

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Hughes Federal Credit Union Included in the Forbes list of America's Best-In-State Credit Unions 2025 Ranking

Tucson, AZ, – Hughes Federal Credit Union has been recognized on the Forbes list of America's Best-In-State Credit Unions 2025. This prestigious award is presented in collaboration with Statista, the world-leading statistics portal and industry ranking provider.

America's Best-In-State Credit Unions 2025 aims to showcase the credit unions most valued by Arizona residents and recognize those that have excelled in meeting their community's unique needs and expectations. The ranking is based on an independent survey of over 26,000 participants in the U.S. by market research firm Statista. Participants evaluated credit unions on several criteria, including Trust, Financial Advice, Customer Service, Digital Services, Branch Services, and Terms & Conditions. A sentiment analysis was conducted using publicly available reviews, and a score was calculated.

Andrew Britton, President and CEO of Hughes Federal Credit Union, expressed his gratitude for this recognition, attributing it to the credit union's member-centric approach. "Being named a Best-In-State Credit Union by Forbes is an incredible honor – especially because it reflects our members' voices and reaffirms our ongoing promise to put people first, deliver meaningful value, and be a trusted partner in every financial journey."

For more than 73 years, Hughes has been offering a full range of financial products and services tailored to meet the unique needs of its members. As one of the only financial institutions in the country that doesn't switch loan rates based on a qualified buyer's credit score, Hughes offers one low rate for everyone. These services include savings and checking accounts and financial education programs aimed at helping members achieve their financial goals.
